

Just Thinkin' About...

Sandhill Cranes and Car shows.....

I went to the Sandhill Crane Festival in Wheatfield a couple of weeks ago and found, among other things, a car show. (I did not see the Sandhill Cranes, but I could have missed them.)

The car show was awesome! In addition, there were a lot of interesting booths, great food, and lots of great people. Looking back over the day, I realize that what I enjoyed most was the variety and friendliness of people. I love cars, but I enjoyed talking with the owners and getting the stories behind their cars as much, or more, than the cars. By visiting with them I learned a lot about them, the things they appreciated, and the trials they endured to have something worthwhile.

The best thing about the Sandhill Crane Festival was, by far, all the great people I got to meet. That, by itself, more than made up for the lack of Sandhill Cranes. (I never checked the barbecue booths.....Nah! They wouldn't, would they? Nah!)

I told Leslie that when I die, have a car show at my funeral. Everyone will come!

This week's moral: People are the only real reason for living; to Jesus, a reason for dying.

Hebrews 12:2 Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.
