

Just Thinkin' About...

Wrinkles.....

I don't fold sweaters, what I do is more like focused wadding. I carefully wadded a sweater the other day and was putting it away when the lovely Leslie June appeared and rescued the sweater from a sure case of ugly wrinkle pox. "Watch me", she said. Then, she laid it out flat, smoothed out all the wrinkles, refolded it into a perfect square, and left it on the bed for me.

In order to get it into the drawer without disturbing it, I would need a large, 2-foot-square spatula. I did manage to get it in the drawer intact. Don't ask me how. Suffice it to say I'm a man and I found a way.

Of course, the best thing I ever found was Leslie June and the best thing I ever did was promise to never leave her. This little story about the sweater illustrates how much we need each other. If it wasn't for her I would be living in a cave with bones scattered all over the floor.

Woman is the keystone of civilization. Men, appreciate your spouse. Show that appreciation by making and keeping a promise to never leave her. Put it down on paper so you can stop introducing the mother of your children as your fiancé or your girl friend.

Jesus and I are not together as long as we get along, we are together as long as He keeps His promise to me that I am saved by grace through faith in Him. And He made it a contract; it's called the New Testament.

In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; Titus 1:2
